NAN TIEN TEMPLE WEDDING

INTRODUCTION

Thank you for your interest in Nan Tien Temple as a venue of choice in holding your wedding celebration. Nan Tien Temple is a Chinese Buddhist Temple built in 1995 and located on 22 hectares of beautifully landscaped grounds, offering a unique setting for private weddings that will impress you and your guests.

Nan Tien Temple is one of the many magnificent branch temples of the Fo Guang Shan Buddhist Order, and is the largest Buddhist Temple in the Southern Hemisphere. The Temple has adopted the Chinese palace building style, merging traditional and modern ideas together into perfect harmony. The combination of eastern and western culture brings special features and uniqueness of character into the architecture.

The Temple opens its doors all year round from 9am to 5pm Tuesdays to Sundays. It has become a popular venue for local and international tourists and also acts as an important cultural and educational centre, bridging eastern and western cultures. The Temple offers modern facilities such as parking, accommodation, conference room, auditorium, dining hall and tea house to cater to our guests and special visitors.

Nan Tien Temple is surrounded by stunning landscaped gardens, offering the perfect setting for wedding photography. The lotus pond, especially in summer, is just one of the many great locations for capturing your special snapshot moments with family and friends.

Nan Tien Temple invites you to view their exquisite venue and impressive grounds located in the heart of historic Wollongong between the mountains and the sea. The fine food and fabulous service will also ensure your special day is a memorable success.
